BASKETBALL

The local high basketballers opened the season with a bang last Friday evening when they smothered the Cardston HI with an avalanche of baskets and romped home with an 86-0 victory.

Despite the uneven score the Cardston Cardston boys made a plucky effort, but they were clearly outclassed in every department of the game. After all it is no disgrace to be whipped by the Raymond High for this years aggregation is one of the fastest and huskiest teams that ever stepped on a basketball floor in the Junior division. Their supporters confidently expect to see them successfully defend the cup against all comers.

The Raymond Intermediatees journeyed to Lethbridge to engage the "Y" Aces in the opening game of the season last Friday night. They were forced to take the short end of a closely contested game. The local boys gave a very good account of themselves, and no doubt as the season progresses they will do better, as the aggregation that met the aces have not been together very long. The local crew that played were: Andy Lund, W. Hague, R. Hawkins, R. Fairbanks, J. Kirkham, J. Wooley, C. Scoville, M. Strong.

The local intermediates tangled with the Stirling quint last Wednesday evening and won the decision by a score of 48-25. From the spectators point of view the game was rather slow with only occasional flashes of fast work. The teams were about equal on the floor, but the locals easily outlasted the visitors in shooting ability. The first half was a fairly even go but in the second frame the Stirling boys seemed to lose heart and allowed the Raymond team to pile up the score.

Lund and Fairbanks were the outstanding stars for the local crew. Fairbanks did the heavy scoring with firmness charged against him. Lund on the defensive was guarding as high as three men at once when the occasion demanded it. On the whole the local team showed lack of the practice that makes for smooth team work. The Stirling boys worked together well but showed a marked lack of aggressiveness and fight. A deplorably small crowd was in attendance.

The preliminary go, between the Aggies and the HI was a walk-away for the hucky high quint. These youthful giants promise to make a clean-up in their division, and with added experience they would be worthy successors to the famous Union Jacks. To-night the Aggies play Macraath at the High School. The preliminary game between the HI and the local Intermediate promises to be a hectic battle.

NEW GROCERY STORE FOR RAYMOND

Mr. Fred Spackman, owner of the leading store in Stirling, is opening a grocery and meat store in Raymond. This place will be open and ready to receive customers next Monday morning. Mr. Spackman is connected with the Red and White chain stores, which fact assures customers of high class groceries at the lowest possible cost. In addition to the above mentioned departments Mr. Spackman has the Agency for John Deere Implements.

The First Ward Relief Society are giving their annual dance at the opera house next Friday, January 18. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to come out and enjoy this evening with the crowd. Bring your friends.

Old Court, Spokane fireman, is here visiting relatives.

Former Raymond Girl Marries

Mr. C. W. Card announces the marriage of his daughter Hattie L. Card to Donald R. Holman. The marriage took place in Seattle, Washington, New Years Eve, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen K. Jensen on Eastlake Avenue, in the presence of relatives and friends of the young couple. The bride's father, sister Verna, and brother Grant and wife came by West Coast Aeroplane from Portland in fifty-seven minutes a distance of two hundred miles, to attend the ceremony. A brother Stewart from Raymond, Alberta, came from Raymond to attend the ceremony. The bride was attractively gowned in sky blue and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Mrs. Allen K. Jensen was her only attendant. Mr. Allen K. Jensen was best man. After February 1, the young couple will be at home to their friends at 1258 Eastlake Avenue, Seattle.

SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY

Over 100,000 bage of sugar have been manufactured during the past season in the plant of the Canadian Sugar Factories Limited of Raymond according to a recent announcement by manager T. George Wood. It is estimated that the expenditure made yearly in this industry in Alberta averages over $650,000, the factory employing during its peak of production from 250 to 300 men. Approximately 37,600 tons of beets were harvested and growers have received an initial payment of $7 per ton which it is expected will be supplemented by further payments during the winter months. A total price of $13.16 per ton was paid for beets delivered to the factory in 1927. During the past season an average yield of 7.5 tons per acre was secured, the beets having an average sugar content of 17.2 per cent. Mr. Wood in his statement expresses the belief that the acreage sown to beets in 1929 will exceed that in any previous year.

Alberta Honey Production

Honey production in Alberta during 1928 shows an increase of approximately twelve per cent. over the total for the previous year, according to figures just compiled by the Provincial Department of Agriculture from returns supplied by beekeepers throughout the province. Production during the past year has reached approximately $36,000 pounds, as compared with 300,000 pounds for the season of 1927, the reports indicating that colonies in most cases have shown a considerable increase in production. In addition to the number of beekeepers who were in the business last year, this year's records show that a steadily increasing number of farmers are developing this profitable sideline to their regular farming operations.

The season's honey crop has been disposed of at an average price of approximately twenty cents per pound; bring the value of honey production of the province up to some $67,200. Most of the honey has been sold locally, producers reporting that there is a very satisfactory market for their product. For the second season in succession Alberta is in the position of being practically self-supporting in the matter of honey production.

Bee-keeping largely centers in the irrigated sections of the southern part of the province, although with the spread of legume crops central and northern sections are represented in the production of honey to an increasing degree and the industry has gained a good foothold in several sections of the Peace River country, where very satisfactory returns have been secured over the past several years.

R. A. A. HOLDS MEETING

In view of the fact that George Paris has left town and could no longer act as manager of the ice sports of the town a meeting was called by the R. A. A. to elect a man to fill the vacancy. Mr. Welburn Van Orman was selected to take this position.

The matter of playing basket ball in the open house was discussed and was decided by the managers to allow them to play games but to practice.

Father Of Local Man Dies

Mr. N. C. Tollestrup father of C. F. Tollestrup died at his home in Gunnison Utah, January 4.

Mr. Tollestrup lived to the ripe old age of 95, he was one of the old pioneers of that country, settling there in 1866 after crossing the plains by ox team. He has spent a life of activity, once a captain in the army fighting the Indians during the Black Hawk War. He was a stone mason by trade and at the age of 75 received more money than any one on the job.

He is from a line of long lived ancestors, his sisters living over one hundred years.

Last summer when Mr. C. F. Tollestrup was there visiting his folks two group pictures were taken, one of four generations and another of five.

Mr. Tollestrup leaves a posterity of one hundred and ninety, all living.

QUESTION MARK ENDS FLIGHT

Los Angeles.—The endurance flight plane, the Question Mark, glided to a perfect landing here at 2:07, o'clock yesterday afternoon after a historic and record breaking flight of 150 hours, and 40 minutes, and 15 seconds. The ship flew continuously for nearly seven days and nights following its take off here on New Year morning at 7:25, o'clock.

The end of one of the greatest flights in all aviation history came after a crew of five weary men had fought constantly against time and motors which piled trouble in a heap upon them in an hour before the landing. Thirty hours before, their work seemed near an end when the motors balked, but the trouble cleared away and the flight went on. As though in protest to the great strain placed upon them, the motors finally stuttered, one went "dead" and with another rapidly failing, they forced the nose of the ship earthward. Previous motor trouble had been almost negligible.

"TEX" RICKARD, WELL-KNOWN FIGURE IN SPORTING WORLD SECUMBS TO APPENDICITIS

Miami, Fla., Jan. 7.—George L. ("Tex") Rickard, famous sportsman and fight promoter, died at a hospital here at 8:36 this morning, he had been gravely ill for the past 48 hours, following an operation for the removal of his appendix, New Year's day.

Following the removal of a gangrenous appendix, two emergency operations were performed in an effort to halt the spread of the infection. The promoter who had come to Miami Beach as head of the Madison Square Corporation, to promote another heavyweight match, rallied for a time, but took a turn for the worse Friday night. He lapsed into unconsciousness at 6:30 yesterday morning after gradually losing strength through the night, and failed to rally.

"Tex" Rickard who travelled an adventurous road from cowboy to millionaire and found more gold in managing boxing champions than in the Klondike, was on his last journey today.

Over the bronze casket, so heavy that eighteen men were required to lift it into the hearse, lay a blanket of roses, given by Dempsey and Field and which bore the tribute "To our pal."

PROMINANT MAN LEAVES

George Paris formerly of King Motors left Raymond last week for Merford Oregon where he will be in the employ of Skagga Grocery, chain of retail stores. While in the above city he will be closely associated with George Mangan who is also formerly of Raymond and who at present manages one of these stores.

Mrs. Paris and family will join him when he permanently located. The Recorder wishes George every success in this new venture.

George H. Brewerton formerly of Raymond recently disposed of his entire interests throughout the Shelby Kevin Oil fields, which consist of the Orpheum theater and the Liberty theater the Winter Garden dancing pavilion at Shelby. The Gaiety theater at Olmsted, and the Kevin theater, Kevin, and the Capitol theater, Cutbank.

Mr. Brewerton's future plans are unknown at this writing.

Fiendish Murder At Salt Lake

SALT LAKE CITY.—Intensed over the murder of little June Nelson, 12, attacked and slain by a degenerate, the forces of the law throughout the west marshaled all their strength today in another great manhunt.

Salt Lake City spent a nervous night as the vicious slayer eluded capture. Dozens of telephone calls kept patrolmen and officers on the jump in pursuit of "suspicious characters." Any man standing on a shaded street corner, awaiting a street car for instance, was likely to be reported as suspect and riot cars rushed through the streets checking such reports.

Authorities were without a single clue. Three times they believed they had the slayer when they arrested suspects, but each proved an alibi and investigators admitted today they had not discovered one tangible lead.

There was not even a footprint at the canal near the outskirts where June's body was found. This caused authorities to believe the body had been hurled from a passing automobile.

Medical examination of the body showed the girl had been attacked and strangled to death. The entire body bore teeth marks, as well as scratches, bruises and abrasions.

June left home Monday night about 7 p.m., on an errand to the neighborhood grocery. She was accompanied by her little sister, Betty. Betty returned home and said they had been chased by a man. She assured her mother, however that June had reached the grocery. June never returned. Intensive search culminated shortly before noon yesterday when the body was found in a canal that had been dug to carry the surplus waters of the Jordan river to Great Salt Lake.

June's shoes, her gaiters, bloomers and hat were missing. In a deserted automobile nearby police found a pair of child's shoes. They were not June's and the owner of the machine a man from Magna, Utah, established an authentic alibi.

With amazing rapidity, four former inmates of Utah prison, who had been convicted of attacks on girls similar to the one on June, and paroled or pardoned, were rounded up and questioned. Each was able to prove for the time at least, that he had nothing to do with the crime.

Officers therefore proceeded today on the slender chance that discovery of one of the missing articles of clothing would furnish a clue or that Lowerton or Moorhead authorities might be able to suggest the slayer.

King's Kanadiens

King's Kanadien's, who for the past season have rapidly gained in popularity, having played a number of important engagements including dances at Cardston, Megrath, Fireman's Annual Ball at Pincher Creek, Christmas and New Year's dances at Raymond, G. W. V. A. and Masonic Hall at Lethbridge and broadcasting engagements at the studio of J. O. C. Lethbridge.

The organization of musicians have been chosen by the management of the New Maranda Hotel at Lethbridge to play a series of Dinner Dances at the hotel ball room each Wednesday and Saturday. It is understood that everyone is cordially invited to attend all dances. The music will be broadcasted over the air from the ball room. To harmonize with the new engagement, the boys are appearing at the Marquis in a brand new uniforms.

The local Boy Scout organization are giving a dance in the opera house, Saturday, January 12, A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to come out and support this worthy organization.

Better Health In 1929

A year or two after the close of the Great War, and when it was organizing its peace programme for "the improvement of health, the prevention of disease, and the mitigation of suffering," the Canadian Red Cross Society launched a monthly magazine for the purpose of arousing public interest in the matter of individual, community, and national health. With the end of 1928 publication of this little periodical ceased, and in announcing the cessation of publication, the Red Cross stated that in the intervening years the subject of health improvement and disease prevention had made such giant strides, and so many organizations and publications were devoting their energies to the subject, while almost every daily and weekly paper regularly printed health articles, that the same necessity did not exist for the Red Cross magazine, consequently the money it cost to produce could be devoted to other purposes.

There has certainly been a gratifying increase in public interest in health matters in the years following the war. With all its awfulness tragedies and enormous loss, the war at least served the purpose of advancing the cause of health. Today, Canada is probably the healthiest country in the world, but, even so, there is still vast room for improvement, and that improvement cannot be brought about alone by medical men, governments, hospitals, and health organizations. It rests largely with the individual.

In the past it has been true to a great extent that people only became actively interested in their health when they became sick, notwithstanding the fact that every intelligent person will frankly admit that prevention is better than cure. In all industry in this age special efforts are directed at the elimination of waste and all unnecessary costs in business. Yet loss of time, loss of efficiency, loss in production, loss of earnings by the employee and of profits by the employer, loss occasioned by increased expenses at the very time when income is decreased or stops, is the direct result of sickness. It is the cause of the greatest aggregate loss in our national life.

No better New Year resolution can be made, or observed, by the individual, or the community, than one which finds expression in a determination to safeguard health. Such a resolution finds added force at this particular time when an epidemic of influenza is again sweeping the continent, although, fortunately, of a milder type than those of some years ago. Influenza is very contagious, but, on the other hand, it can be easily combated through the taking of very simple precautions. If it is not so combated at its inception, it may quickly result in serious complications such as bronchitis, intestinal trouble, or pneumonia.

All health authorities are alive to the danger; so, too, are the life insurance companies, and all are engaged in extensive publicity campaigns to acquaint people of the danger and to make known to them the simple precautions they should exercise. Thousands of dollars are being spent in newspaper advertising and other forms of publicity, and it is money well spent, but it will, nevertheless, be largely wasted unless the masses of the people to whom these appeals and advice is directed profit by it.

This new year of 1929 cannot be a happy, prosperous year if sickness enters the homes of Canada, followed by death carrying off loved ones, or leaving members of the family weakened and liable to contract other forms of disease. Good health is the first essential to happiness. Without it no person, community or nation can be prosperous.

The Canadian people cannot render better service to themselves and their country than by giving immediate and constantly continuing attention to their health. By so doing they will be laying the only sure foundation to happiness, prosperity, progress.

League Of Nations

Coast To Coast Membership Drive To Take Place In April

The weekly and daily newspapers of Canada are warm supporters of the League, it was stated at the regular monthly meeting of the League of Nations Society held in Ottawa, when arrangements were discussed for the membership drive to take place next April. Throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, it was said, editors have shown an interest in the activities of the League of Nations and in the efforts of the Society to promote it in this country. The support of the press will prove a great asset in the annual "Coast to Coast" Membership Drive due to take place on April 16th, 1929, which will be known as "League of Nations Day."

Stern Wheel Steamboats

Last Of Picturesque River Boats Has Disappeared In B.C.

The Fraser River has seen the last of its picturesque stern wheel steamers which until now have formed a link with the romantic past, the Cariboo gold stampede and other notable events in the early history of British Columbia.

The old steamer Skeena has been sold as a cannery tender, and will be used as a bunkhouse for fishermen. She will no longer navigate the shallows and treacherous canyons of the mighty Fraser, and she was the last of her line.

Stern wheelers first commenced to operate on the Fraser in 1850.

A new record was set for Alberta in the disposal by MacKenzie Brothers, of Lacombe, of Earl Marshall the steer which recently won the grand championship at Vancouver for a net sum of $1,250. This steer which was bred by a Prince Marshall bull, owned by H. Henderson of Lacombe, weighed 1,250 lbs. and was purchased by Jackson Brothers, of Vancouver, at $1 per pound—the highest price ever paid for an Alberta fed steer.

WEAK, LISTLESS GIRLS

Need Such A Tonic As Dr. Williams' Pink Pills To Restore Health

When a girl in her teens becomes pale and listless, especially if at the same time she shows inclination to tire easily, a listlessness and inattention to her work or studies, she needs Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic which directly and specifically corrects the condition from which she is suffering. A chemical analysis of the blood of such a girl would show it to be deficient in just the elements Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can supply. But an analysis of the blood is not needed—the physical signs are a pallor of the cheeks and lips, dark circles under the eyes, easily tired and breathless after slight exertion. Poor appetite, headaches, and sometimes fainting spells follow; often the patient is nervous and is startled at the least noise. In all run-down conditions there is no other tonic will build up so quickly and so surely as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The statement of Miss Dorothy Lumbkin, Bush Island, N.S., will bring hope to other weak girls. She says:—"I wish from my heart I could persuade every person who is in a run-down condition to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. About a year ago I was a weak girl suffering from impoverished blood and a run-down system, with many of the attendant symptoms. I had often read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to take them, and after using six boxes I feel as well and strong as ever. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be my standby in the future if ever my blood needs building up again, and I shall always find pleasure in recommending them to others. You can get these pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

SCALLOPED CORN AND CELERY

2 cups corn (canned or fresh cut).
1 cup celery (finely chopped).
1 cup buttered dry bread crumbs.
1 teaspoon salt.
1 small green pepper chopped.
2 tablespoons butter.
1 cup hot milk.

Arrange corn, peppers, celery and crumbs in two alternate layers in a buttered baking dish. Add butter to hot milk and pour over the vegetables. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake 30 to 40 minutes. Serves eight.

RICE WITH DATES

1 cup rice.
3 cups boiling water.
1 teaspoon salt.
1 cup dates.

Wash rice and add to boiling water. Add salt and boil 5 minutes. Cook in double boiler 30 minutes. Add dates, cut in pieces, and cook until rice is tender and all the water has been absorbed. Serve hot or cold with milk or cream.

Quite Simple

Canadian Firm Gets Contract

Will Supply R.C.A.F. With Moth Planes To Be Assembled In Canada

The de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Limited, has received notification from the director of contracts, of the Department of National Defence that their tender for the supply of Moth aircraft for the re-equipment of the Royal Canadian Air Force had been accepted.

An order was placed immediately for thirty-four two-seater Moth light aeroplanes, twenty-eight being land planes for the re-equipment of the Camp Borden station. These machines which will replace the old "Lynx Avros" at present in use, will be used for the training of personnel of the force and for the annual flying courses for probationary flying officers who attend during the summer months. The remaining machines are Moth seaplanes for the equipment of the station of Vancouver.

It is a significant fact that all these machines are to be equipped with the Handley-Page automatic safety slits which render an aeroplane as nearly fool-proof as possible.

The Moths will be of the latest metal fuselage type which has been specially evolved for Canadian flying conditions and recently passed all tests at Ottawa with flying colors.

The order includes six spare Gipsy engines and approximates in value almost $200,000.

The Moths will be partly manufactured in England, but assembled and tested at the de Havilland Company's plant at Mount Dennis, Ont., delivery is to be completed by March 31.

Two Hundred Mile Dog Derby Returns To North Country

Famous Mushers Will Race This Year From The Pas To the Flin Flon

After a lapse of four years, the endurance dog derby, which once thrilled the north country, and, it might even be said, the world, is returning to The Pas. The gruelling non-stop race which brought fame to Northern Manitoba and its hardy mushers will be revived at the frontier town's winter carnival, March 4 to 7. This time, romance will be added to romance. The course will be from The Pas to the famous Flin Flon mine and back, a distance of 200 miles.

Two thousand dollars in cash prizes, besides other valuable awards, and the Walter Goyne-Grant Rhee memorial cup, which has an intrinsic value of $1,000, will attract mushers from wherever mushers mush. The winner will have the dog racing championship of the world.

"Shorty" Russick, veteran driver, and the youthful, though none the less noted Emil St. Godard, present world's champion, each have a leg on the memorial cup. St. Godard will be one of the leading contestants this year, and it is likely that Russick will also enter. Other noted mushers are bound to make a strong bid, for more fame at the derby since it has gone back to epic proportions. Seppala, Alaska's pride, has been itching for another endurance race, his friends say, and other mushers, from both the east and the west, have already sent in their applications for entrance forms.

Drivers are already training their teams for the test in March. St. Godard's dogs are in line shape after a summer and a fall of workouts. The team of the French-Canadian musher had been trained for the speedier, 120-mile lap races of the last three years, but Emil claims that the dogs have the endurance for the longer route. They have been harnessed to an auto chassis in the warm months and are in good condition for the snow trail.

All the color, the lure, the joys and the sorrows of the land of the northern lights is crowded into the romantic history of dog racing at The Pas.

Standards Of Intelligence

Impossible To Measure Intelligence With A Foot-Rule

Dr. Edward E. Free, a noted chemist, tells the American Society of Mechanical Engineers that mechanics are the most intelligent class in the nation. Second come engineers; third, business men. Last of all, but safely out of the category of morons, come actors, preachers, doctors and college professors.

And how does Dr. Free measure intelligence? It is "the ability to reach a reasonably correct conclusion from a set of discoverable facts." But of sets of facts there are all kinds and varieties. Perhaps Dr. Free would tend to over-emphasize the relative importance of chemical facts. Yet if so, one wonders why he ranks college professors so low in his scale. Surely such professors as Dr. Millikan and Dr. Compton should take high rank even on materialistic grounds. A physician like Dr. Bailey, the developer of insulin, might be assumed to possess some degree of brain power and logical capacity.

Intelligence is imponderable. It is not to be tested with a foot-rule. It has as many standards as there are people to apply them. Because Shakespeare was an actor we should not be inclined to seat him below the salt at a banquet table of mechanical engineers, just one remove from the half-wits. — New York World.

"See here," the Indian inspector declared, "It is a violation of the law now to have more than one wife, and the law must be obeyed. When you get back home you tell all of your wives, except one, that they can no longer look upon you as their husband."

"You tell 'em," suggested the Indian after a moment's reflection.

Concludes Greatest Year

Production in B.C. Industries Breaks Quarter Billion Mark

The year 1928 was by far the greatest in the history of British Columbia. The production of the province's four great industries, lumbering, agriculture, mining and fishing, for the first time broke the quarter billion mark.

A conservative estimate, based on preliminary returns so far available to the government, would place the output at $251,205,000, an increase of $6,977,333 over the total for 1927, but final returns, especially from the lumber industry, may easily boost this a million or more.

Plans Being Made At Coast For a Monument To Capt. Vancouver

Plans are being laid to raise money in Vancouver for the erection of a statue in honor of the famous captain who gave his name to what is now the highest sea port on the American Pacific coast. Says the Vancouver Province, "We cannot emulate the imposing scheme of the Statue of Liberty. We cannot hope to spend a million dollars on our Captain Vancouver as the United States between them spent on their 315-foot high lady of the torch. But our Captain Vancouver should stand a memorial and a symbol, guarding our local habitation and our name, rising out of our sea, to be a witness for us that we honor them that laid our foundations. It should stand somewhere at the entrance of the harbor, in a high place looking down upon the ships as they pass, a landmark for the mariner by day, and a beacon light by night, visible far out in the Gulf."

Briquetting Plant

New Fuel To Shortly Appear On the Saskatchewan Market

After more than nine years, during which more than a million dollars was spent in plant equipment and experimentation, a new fuel is shortly to appear on Saskatchewan markets.

It was March 20, 1918, that the order-in-council was passed which gave the required authority in the setting up of the Lignite Utilization Board of Canada. That body worked for years in an effort to produce a briquette from the vast store of lignite in southern Saskatchewan, concentrating on a vast plant at Blenfaith.

The original vote was for $100,000, the federal government supplying half and the Saskatchewan and Manitoba governments supplying one-quarter each. After that fund was exhausted Manitoba dropped out and Saskatchewan and the federal government carried on. The grand total by governments, many thousands of which went into experimental equipment that had to be discarded, was $1,036,300.

When it appeared that the whole scheme was to prove a failure and governments hesitated over putting up more money, British capital became interested and the moneyed men agreed to spend another large sum in experimental work at the plant, and, if successfully, to take over the plant for one dollar. Ernest Bury, generally considered the ranking industrial chemist in the British Empire, was placed in charge and, according to latest advice, has produced a type of briquette that is considered successful in every way.

CANADIAN CATTLE FOR AUSTRALIA

That Canada is one of the world's leading producers of high class cattle is well illustrated by the recent shipment of pure bred Aberdeen Angus cattle from the Glencarnock stock farms, owned by J. D. McGregor, of Brandon, Man., to the Australian Government. The shipment comprising 28 head, was selected by Mr. McGregor and officials of the Australian Government. The picture shows some of these animals. Upper right, Glencarnock Revolution, senior herd sire; upper centre, four of the prize animals. Upper left, Black Cap Blixie, one of the show cows; the lower picture shows a few of the prize animals.

After a trip from Brandon over the Canadian Pacific Railway lines, there was shipped on December 22nd, aboard the oil burning steamer "Hirak," sailing from Vancouver to Sydney, Australia, 28 head of pure bred Aberdeen-Angus cattle from the herd of James D. McGregor, Brandon, Manitoba. This is an epoch making shipment because it is only the first shipment of Aberdeen-Angus cattle from Canada to our great Dominion below the equator, to Australia. The consignment comprises two lots—one of 18 females and two bulls for the government of New South Wales, and another of 6 females and 2 bulls for G. W. Mackey, Hemsby Admiration, New South Wales, Australia.

The idea of importing into Australia a herd of Canadian Aberdeen-Angus cattle originated with J. B. Cramsie, who is chairman of the Australian Metropolitan Meat Industry Board. Mr. Cramsie has supervision of abattoirs, stock yards and slaughter houses for the Australian government and some time ago he made a trip around the world for the purpose of gathering as much information as possible in his efforts to provide better facilities for the handling of Australian meat products. During that trip he made a visit to Glencarnock Farms, and became so deeply interested in the Dobbies, that he decided to endeavor to interest private individuals in his own country to make some purchases here. Finally, however, he succeeded in interesting the government of New South Wales, and later 18 females and 2 bulls were purchased, the entire transaction being arranged by cable. When the deal was finally completed, the government of New South Wales sent C. G. F. Grant, head herdsman, to Brandon, to inspect the consignment and arrange for its shipment to Australia.

Colin Campbell is in charge of the shipment on its long journey from Brandon to Sydney. Mr. Campbell has been in very responsible positions with leading herds for years, and he has had extensive experience in handling over-seas shipments, having made two trips to the Orient, and one to South America. The services of Mr. Campbell were secured by Mr. McGregor to ensure the landing of the cattle in good condition so that they may be paraded at the Sydney Royal Show, which opens April 3rd, 1929, following which they will be shown at Melbourne and Brisbane. To fortify Mr. Campbell and his charges against a longer trip than is anticipated, 18,000 lbs. of rolled oats, six tons of bran, and 12 tons of hay were loaded with the cattle.

While upon examination one is impressed with the individual excellence of the animals shipped, students of Aberdeen-Angus breeding will be struck with the excellence of the breeding of every animal in the consignment. Not only do they belong to the fashionable families—there are Blackbirds, Blackcaps, Elba Fries, Miss Burgess, Elsa, Erica's, Enchantress Edie's, Georgina's and several more of the breed's leading strains—they are descended from real working cattle on both sides of the pedigree. Most of the pedigrees show from three to four generations of Glencarnock breeding, and many of them more than that. Such bulls as Edward Glencarnock, the present herd sire, Blackcap Revolution, Edward of Glencarnock, Euros of Glencarnock, Evreux of Harviestoun, Faultless Pass, Enjoinder of Glencarnock, Pride Lad of Homer, and old Leary 3rd, of Meadowbrook, have had an important part to play in the creation of the great consignment of cattle to the land of the southern cross.

In order that the Australian people might get the very best possible impression of Canadian Aberdeen-Angus cattle, Mr. McGregor selected practically his entire show herd to form part of the consignment for the New South Wales Government, and when C. G. F. Grant, head herdsman for that government, was at Brandon on November 20th, to inspect the shipment, he stated that he was very highly pleased with the selections that had been made. In fact he ventured the opinion that the consignment would create a sensation in Australia.

Landing Device
For Planes

Matter Is Occupying the Attention Of the Government

The construction of an efficient landing device for planes, combining skis and wheels, is occupying the attention of government aeronautical engineers. Several forms are now being tested at Ottawa, but it is admitted that the problem is still unsolved.

The difficulty is one that is peculiar to Canada, air officials stated today. Airplanes frequently take off at one point, using wheels and on arrival at the end of a few hundred miles' trip find it extremely difficult to land without skis. Air mail flights between Toronto, Montreal and the Maritimes are particularly affected.

Golden Text: "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us. If we confess our sins, he is faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."—1 John 1:8, 9.

Lesson: Genesis 3:1-24; 6:5-8; Mark 7:14-23; Romans 1:18-32; 8:10-18; 1 John 1:5 to 2:6.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 51:1-10.

Explanations and Comments

What God Is, and What We Should Be, 1:5, 6.—The message which John had received from Christ (see verses 1-3), and which he now hands on, is that God is light, and in Him is no darkness (moral darkness, i.e. sin) at all. "Light, as here contrasted with darkness, means not intellectual illumination, but ethical perfection. It describes the absolute purity and holiness of God as he has been revealed in Christ."—A. S. Peake. God is spirit (John 4:24); God is light (1 John 1:5); and God is love (1 John 4:8). "Spirit, light, love are not mere attributes, they are Himself. They are probably the nearest approach to a definition of God that the human mind could frame or comprehend. The more we consider them, the more they satisfy us. The simplest intellect can understand their meaning; the subtlest cannot expound it."—A. Plummer.

It is not possible to live in sin and at the same time to enjoy the fellowship of God, John next declares. "Walk" in this verse 6, is a familiar figure of speech, meaning one's customary conduct. "Do not the truth" means do not live in harmony with the demands of truth. "The life as well as the statements of the lips are false."

"A life in moral darkness can no more have communion with God, than a life in a coal-pit can have communion with the sun."—A. Plummer.

The Atonement For Sin, 1:7.—If we walk in the light, as life is in the light (we walk); God is; we move through space and time; he is eternity; we have fellowship one with another (the nearer we are to God, the closer is our fellowship with one another).

"While we walk with God in light, God our hearts doth still unite; Dearest fellowship we prove, Fellowship in Jesus' love."—Charles Wesley.

For hours Donald followed the expert through the mill, while the latter explained and tested the different motors.

Once a week Robert Rennie came to the mill, taking a keen interest in all phases of its construction, and invariably he went away with a pleased smile on his face.

"Never saw the old man so worked up," commented Gillis. "Guess he'd like to come up here and run her himself."

Ronwick was still skeptical. For no apparent reason he had taken a dislike to Donald. "It's just 'cause you and I are such good friends," explained Gillis. "Me and him get on like a couple of strange bull-dogs."

When the huge three-story mill, with its dry kiln, lumber skids, conveyor shed and railroad spurs, was ready for operation, and each machine had been tested, Robert Rennie arrived with other officials of the company. Next morning Donald's heart thumped as the mill's big whistle sent out its first call to work and the men filed eagerly to their posts.

The logs were sprayed with huge water-jets as they came up the chain-haul to clean them of gravel and debris. The electric "nigger" spun them about and threw them to place with a thud that shook the mill. Then in a wild crescendo of sound there rose the harsh chorus of saws: the singing howl of the cut-off, the strident, slurring sound of the gang-saws, and the staccato snarl of the trimmer.

Smiling and rubbing his hands, Robert Rennie walked through the mill. "Running like a greased pig," shouted Gillis above the clamor. The owner of the R. C. & L. Co. so far forgot his decorum as to slap the astonished Gillis heartily on the back.

Donald noticed an ever-increasing livability on the part of the logging foreman during the next week. The erstwhile jocular Gillis became sulky and morose. Donald got an inkling as to the cause of his friend's gloom when he heard Gillis in conversation with Andy.

"What the hell's the matter, you big lunkus? You're like a bear with a sore foot," complained Andy.

"If my gang don't get here pretty soon, and I have to put up with this crowd of bohunks much longer, I won't be fit to live with," growled Gillis.

Short of Breath Smothering Feelings Choking Sensation

Mrs. H. Day, Dartmouth, N.S., writes:—"For over a year I was troubled with smothering spells and shortness of breath, and it was impossible for me to walk, even a short distance, because of the choking sensation which followed.

After trying many treatments, in vain, I at last decided to try and in a surprisingly short time they did me much good.

Gillis's gang of "redshirts" were known the length and breadth of British Columbia. Employers bid high for their services, but for many years they had stuck loyally with Gillis and the R. C. & L. Co. At present they were employed by the Company in one of their camps up the coast, but at Gillis's earnest request, Robert Rennie had promised to send them to Summit Lake.

Gillis's "redshirts" had the well-earned reputation of being the wildest crew of lumber jacks west of the Rockies. "They're wild, all right," Gillis had admitted; "a 'swarin', drinkin', fightin' gang of roughnecks. But holy mackerel! How them boys can log!"

That night Gillis confided his troubles to Donald. "I don't know what in tarnation's to become of loggin' in years to come if things keep on as they are now," he began in a despondent tone. "It used to be that when you sent down town for loggers you got loggers. But now," with a gesture of disgust, "you get a lot of silk-stockin'd, mandolin-playin', gum-chewin', smooth-haired guys, or else a bunch of snuff-chewin', garlic-smellin', 'macaroni-eatin' bohunks, whose names sound like a war in Central Europe."

Sighing reminiscently, he continued: "I often wonder if it's because I'm gettin' old; but, you know, when I look back on the days, when we logged with bull teams, it seems to me that the men at that time liked to work. I can still see the old timers in their whiskers, and their big black hats and flannel shirts, as they sailed out on the old Comox or the Cassiar. He shook his head sadly. "Ah! there was only one kind of logger in them days."

Seeing that Donald was interested, he went on: "Yes, there's two kinds of loggers nowadays, Donnie, the 'single-breasted' and the 'double-breasted.' And there's a hell of a lot of difference between the two. The 'single-breasted' logger is a man that don't speak anythin' but English, nn' he don't belong to the 'I won't work' neither. He knows loggin' from A to Z; don't mind sleepin' in a bunk, and always carries his own blankets. If he borrows a ten-spot off you, as soon as he earns it he comes lookin' for you, slips you the money, grabs you by the hand, and lookin' you straight in the eye, says, 'Thanks, friend, come and have a drink.' At night, when he is through work, he'll smoke his pipe, grind his axe, talk about the next day's work with the boss, read the paper and go to bed. In the mornin' he'll swallow a big load of prunes and ham and eggs and go to work a-singin'."

"But this 'double-breasted' he snorted disgustedly, "he's a mixture of a taxi-driver, bartender and soap-box orator, and just because he lives in B.C., he thinks he is a logger. He knows the difference between a fallin' saw and a bucker's saw, and that just about lets him out. If he borrows a dollar off you, the minute the bill slips out of your hand you can see a look in his eye that says, 'You're hooked.' And the devil of it is that he won't cross to the other side of the street when he sees you comin', but he'll walk right up to you a-smilin' and ask you for another buck."

"When he gets through at night he cleans his finger-nails and picks on a mandolin while he tells how many Janes is stuck on him in Vancouver; gives an opinion that the shower-bath was not hot enough, and how we sufferin' workers should rise against the capitalists. He'll kick at the breakfast table because there is only oranges and no grape-fruit. When he goes in the woods he'll throw a few tools away so's to help the cause of the workers."

"Workers!" he exploded, as he came to his feet and walked the floor, "we've got too many 'double-breasted' and 'hunks' in this camp right now, Donnie. A hunk will work if you show him a pick and shovel, but these other guys are trouble-breeder. Did you see that big brute that came in today?"

Donald remembered seeing an enormous man with narrow, piggy eyes, in the crowd of men sent by the employment agency.

"That's of 'Hand. He's a bad egg. I s'pose I'd ought to fire him, but he's a good logger, and they are mighty scarce 'round these digghs." He yawned sleepily. "Got to fix a 'spar-tree' for a 'high-head' tomorrow, so I better hit the hay."

Preparing the "spar-tree" for "high-head," or "sky-line" rigging, is the most spectacular and thrilling performance in the logging industry. A standing tree is trimmed of top and branches, then strengthened with guys. With the pull coming from this altitude, the advantage over the straight ground pull is enormous as logs are lifted high in air over all impediments. The men who do this hazardous work are known as "high-riggers."

Next morning, a man with a short-handed axe, wearing a wide belt to pass around the tree-trunk, and a pair of l neman's spurs, slowly climbed a big fir. As he ascended he trimmed the trunk clear of limbs. Quite a crowd gathered among the trapper, with his rifle on his arm.

"I ain't got a 'high-rigger' in the outfit," growled Gillis. "This feller agreed to trim her, but he says he never chopped the top off one, so I guess we'll dynamite her."

The explosive, with a detonating cap, was tied around the top of the tree and wires strung to the ground. For some reason the batteries would not act, and Gillis chafed under the delay.

"I kin set her off for ye," said the old trapper.

Gillis turned to him. "How?"

The trapper tapped his gun. "Put a piece of paper on the cap so I kin see her and I'll pop it."

"That's a new 'one' on me," laughed Gillis.

He sent the man aloft to place a square piece of pasteboard on the cap. The men moved back from the foot of the tree, and Gillis gave the signal that all was clear. The old man sprang briskly to the top of a stump, tipped his big hat to the back of his head, and raised his rifle slowly.

For an instant the long barrel wavered slightly, then steadied. The report of the rifle was drowned by a splintering crash. The heavily-branched top lifted, then came hurtling through the air to strike the ground a mass of wreckage. For a moment the big eared drunkenly from the shock, then stood stark and rigid. Deprived of its fronds of green, it appeared a ghastly relic of its former self.

That afternoon, as they waited the arrival of the train, Gillis talked again of his "red-shirts." "White men, every one of them," he declared proudly, "and everyone of them with a nickname that is known all over the Coast. Ye just ought to see my two 'high-riggers,' 'Hoop-la' McKenzie and 'Blackie' Anderson. 'Blackie' is as black as an Indian, and 'Hoop-la' got his name from standing on the top of a spar tree, after he cuts her off, wavin' his hat and yellin' 'Hoop-la'."

"I got five Jack McDonalds in the gang. Their names are 'Sly' Jack, 'Fightin' Jack, 'Cheek-Book' Jack, 'Johnnie-On-The-Spot,' and 'Crazy' Jack. An' if they had all bin named 'Crazy' Jack it wouldn't bin no mistake," he finished with a laugh.

The train rumbled to the station and the usual crowd of workers came pouring from the cars, while a crowd stood waiting to board the train. It was the same every day—men coming and men going.

Gillis uttered a glad cry, "Here they are!"

A big, ostentatious man, with broad shoulders and narrow hips, stepped to the platform. His dress was truly colourful and striking—with hat, high boots, a vivid scarlet shirt, with a cloth belt of the same bright hue tied at the side, the ends dangling loosely.

"Get out of the way, hunkies, and make room for a logger!" he roared as he elbowed his way through a crowd of scattering foreigners, behind him a line of men clad in the same brilliant attire.

"Hello, Hoop-la! you ornery ol' skate!" bellowed Gillis.

The big man turned. "Here he is feller!" he shouted.

In a moment Gillis was surrounded by this picturesque crew, howling tumultuous greetings.

"Hello, ol' hoss!"

"Hello, you son-of-a-gun!"

"How the hell are ye?"

Donald was subjected to crushing handclaps as he was introduced to each and every one of this crowd of husky loggers.

As Donald studied them he did not wonder at Gillis's pride in these men.

Relieve the pain of cold-nipped cheeks or ears with Minard's. It will soothe and heal.

With the exception of Blackie, there was none under six feet in height, and they carried themselves with a loose swing that was almost a swagger. Many of them were well past middle age, some quite grey about the temples. They were all filled with the sparkling health of the great outdoors, their skins the colour of mahogany.

TOOTH EXERCISE

You have read considerable of late about the "daily dozen" and other such settling-up exercises.

So you know, of course, that the body requires exercise if it is to develop and keep fit.

You have been told, too, that a vigorous chewing of your food is both beneficial and necessary as the first step in good digestion.

But perhaps you have never given thought to the beneficial effects of thorough mastication on the tooth structures themselves.

In the first place, then, there is the stimulating effect on the supporting structures of the teeth, giving them proper "tissue tone."

In the growing child, the development of the teeth is impossible without sufficient masticatory exercise. Former generations ate hard and coarse foods, and suffered little from dental trouble.

Mastication of such tough uncooked food gave to their teeth and jaw sufficient exercise to promote the most vigorous circulation and a very decided massage of the gums. These agencies through the abundant blood supply to the jaws provided ample tissue nourishment for growth and development along with great powers of resistance to infection.

Today, we are using a great many over-refined and pre-digested foods, which require little or no chewing, and in the use of which, even the mechanical effects from the scrubbing of the tooth surfaces are lacking, with the result that Nature working out her inexorable law, that a member that is not functioning as intended, gradually loses its efficiency, is making the tooth-structure softer and less resistant to disease.

There should be, therefore, an habitual use at each meal, of foods selected not only on account of their nutrient qualities, but because they are of such a nature as to require vigorous masticatory effort.

Grippe! Flu! Influenza! Raging Through Canada

Preventive measures are advisable with so much Grippe in the air. Keep the throat and nostrils clear of infectious germs by inhaling the balsamic vapor of Catarrhazone. By this means you send the healing and soothing properties of the famous "Blue Gum" of Australia all through the air passages of the head and throat.

Catarrhazone stops a grippv cold, it's splendid for irritable throat, relieves headache and quickly drives out the germs of Flu, Influenza, Grippe and Bronchitis. Get Catarrhazone today. Complete outfit, $1.00, and lasts two months; smaller size 50c at all druggists.

Caught By Americans

Now we know why the fish don't bite any more. They are finding their way into the Great Lakes to be caught by American fishermen. Last year these fishermen took 23,796,000 pounds out of Lake Erie, 23,689,884 pounds from Lake Michigan, 15,710,731 pounds from Lake Huron, 15,301,562 pounds from Lake Superior, and 697,821 pounds from Lake Ontario.

Excellent For Croupy Children. When a child is suffering with croup it is a good plan to use Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It reduces the inflammation and loosens the phlegm giving speedy relief to the little sufferer. It is equally reliable for sore throat and chest, earache, rheumatic pains, cuts, bruises and sprains. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is regarded by many thousands as an indispensable of the family medicine chest.

Nofable Rocky Mountain Pass. Jarvie Pass, a densely timbered crossing on the Alberta-British Columbia interprovincial boundary, is remarkable for containing a number of small lakes on its summit, distributed on both sides of the watershed. The water from some of the lakes flows westward to the Pacific, while from the others it runs eastward to the Atlantic.

Avoid Upsetting Stomach

This simple external treatment cannot disturb your digestion as too much "dosing" is so apt to do. This is doubly important when "flu" is around, for your stomach, as well as your respiratory organs, must be kept in good condition in order to keep your body resistance at its highest level.

For this reason, too, mothers prefer Vicks for children. It can be used freely and often, even on the youngest child, with no fear of upsetting a delicate stomach.

To Help Ward Off the Flu

When influenza colds are prevalent, you can often prevent infection by snuffing a little Vicks well up the nostrils every night and morning, or before exposure to crowds.

Little Helps For This Week

"Freely ye have received," freely give."—Matthew x. 8.

The Hand that strews the earth with flowers,
Enriched the marriage feast with wine;
The Hand once pierced for sins of ours,
This morning made the dew-drops shine.

It freely gives its very best,
Not barely what the need may be,
But for the joy of making blest;
Teach us to live and give like Thee.
Not narrowly men's claims to measure,
But daily question all our powers—
"To whose cup can we add a pleasure, Whose path can we make bright with flowers?"
—Elizabeth Charles.

Opportunities come reaching out their hands to us every moment, not to do great things perhaps, but for the "little, daily, unremembered acts of kindness and of love," that take off the chill from our undemonstrative matter-of-fact intercourse with one another, and keep our hearts from starvation. —Lucy Larcom.

RAYMOND SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

The School of Agriculture started the spring term on Thursday January 3, with approximately ninety per cent of the fall term students returning. The School is very glad to report the arrival of Dr. W. J. Harworth instructor in Veterinary Science. Dr. Harworth has been the instructor in this science since the Raymond school opened and we are pleased to see Dr. return.

Extensive preparations are now under way for the athletic dance to be held at the school on Friday January 26. This dance will be what its name implies, for the decorations and the novelties will depict an athletic scene; even the — Well that is supposed to be a surprise for the students, and their friends.

Mr. Angus Mac Donald instructor in dairying arrived this afternoon for the purpose of starting the second year course in Dairying. We take this opportunity to welcome Mr. Mac Donald.

"THREE WEEK ENDS" HAILED AS POPULAR STAR'S GREATEST PICTURE

PARAMOUNT has added another winner to the list of pictures which are making 1928 "Paramount's Greatest Year."

"Three Week Ends," Clara Bow's new Elinor Glyn picture which will open at the Capitol theater for Friday and Saturday, is the latest thing from this studio and it is a new sensation.

People are talking about "Three Week Ends," as they talked about it, the first one of Clara Bow-Elinor Glyn combinations, and about the second, "Red Hair." It is a cyclone of love, laughs and legs with the Bow personality whirling all through it. Why spend "Three Weeks" learning about love when "Three Week Ends" can teach "It" in one evening? Clara snaps things up in this story of a little East Side girl who gets a job dancing in a cabaret and dances right into the hearts of a rich play man. She gets away with a lot on the playboy but she just gives and gives to the salesman.

There are pathos, fun, romance, and melodrama in this story. Neil Hamilton in the leading man and Harrison Ford has an important part. The supporting cast has a group of established favorites and, at least, one surprise.
